Philem. 5, “because I hear of your love and of the faith which you have toward the Lord Jesus and toward all the saints;”

a. We always give thanks to God concerning you when we pray.

This implies that every time Paul prays he gives thanks for the Colossians

b. We always give thanks to God...when we pray for you?

This implies that whenever Paul prays for the Colossians, he gives thanks for them.

c. We give thanks to God, always praying for you.

Paul is always praying for the Colossians, whereas in option 1 Paul would always be giving thanks for the Colossians every time he prayed.

There are four kinds of prayer: CATS
